

January 19, 2019

INVITATION TO PARTICIPATE IN THE CELEBRATION OF WORLD WETLANDS DAY

It is our distinct pleasure to invite you to participate in an event in Ghana in observance of the World Wetlands Day. The event will involve community outreach campaigns, guided tour for students and planting of mangroves at the Muni-Pomadze Ramsar Site, in Winneba, Ghana on Saturday 2 February 2019. Through this event, we will build community support for the protection of the Muni-Pomadze Ramsar Site.

The World Wetlands Day is celebrated each year on 2 February to raise global awareness about the vital role of wetlands for people and our planet. This day also marks the date of the adoption of the Convention on Wetlands on 2 February 1971, in the Iranian city of Ramsar. The theme for this year's celebration; Wetlands and Climate Change; seeks to draw attention to the vital role of wetlands as a natural solution to cope with climate change.

This event is being organised by Nature Today in collaboration with the Wildlife Division of the Forestry Commission, and the Centre for Coastal Management of the University of Cape Coast. Founded in 2006, Nature Today is a non-profit organisation dedicated to advancing innovative leadership for effective use of human and natural resources to help individuals, communities and organisations achieve their full potential. We envision a world where people manage resources in a sustainable way that guarantees long-term benefits for all generations.

Please do not hesitate to contact us (info@ntgh.org, +233-244735267) if you need any further information about this event.

Sincerely,

Rebecca Dodoo
Programmes Officer
Nature Today

MAP OF MUNI-POMADZE RAMSAR SITE

